The CAMPUS TODAY

Legislative Group Visits ISTC Campus

Officials of the State Board of Regents and the State Interim Committee visited the campus July 24.

The group inspected the new married student housing units, land recently purchased for future campus expansion, and sites of the new Health Service and Music Education buildings.

President J. W. Maucker delivered a "State of the Union" message to the visitors, discussing the general outlook for next year, current problems, enrollment trends, and composition of the student body.

"The Potting Shed" Is TC Summer Play

"The Potting Shed", a 3-act drama which recently won critical acclaim on the stages of New York and London, was presented by I.S.T.C. students this summer.

The play, called by one critic, "a clever manifesto thrown in the teeth of a disbelieving age", featured Carl Albert of Amana; Naomi Harold, Liane Nichols, Winifred Hart, Merle Picht, and Katherine Adamson, of Cedar Falls; Calvin Vander Woude of Sanborn; Alice Margaret Hayes and Lou Glorfeld of Waterloo.

Small TC Squad Opens '59 Campaign

Not since 1865 has there been a reconstruction problem as big as that confronting the Football Coaching Staff at I.S.T.C.

Coach Bill Hammer and his staff will open the 1959 football season with a squad of only 34 candidates, of which only 8 are seniors, and 11 are returning lettermen.

Only half of the squad was on last season's team which won four and lost five.

But in spite of this mammoth job ahead there is a distinct lack of pessimism in the Panther camp, and it's felt that a couple of big "ifs" could jell the team into a North Central Conference contender. If there is a minimum of injury, if Coach Hammer's potentially talented sophomores can develop quickly, and if veterans can come up with top performances, the Panthers could be in.

This year could present a reverse of last season, and find the Panthers winning at season's end after dropping some early games. On paper, it seems unlikely that the Panthers can warm up to a championship challenge until at least two games have been played, possibly more.

Action from the '58 Season

Top veteran back returning is two-year regular Max Huffman, who has twice led the Panthers in rushing. The stocky halfback was also tops in scoring (40 points) and interceptions (3) last fall, despite being hampered by an injury early in the season. All-conference tackle Dennis Remmert will be the big man up front, along with center Chuck Schulte, if he's recovered from a wrist injury.

ISU Grad Carney New Frosh Mentor

Clarence Carney, a 1951 graduate of Iowa State University, will coach the Panther frosh squad this year, and help the staff with the varsity.

Carney, who will be doing graduate work at ISTC, won four letters on the Cyclone grid teams, playing all four different backfield spots.

During the past six years Carney coached high school football at Ackley, where he compiled a 36-17-1 record, including 19 straight wins.

A WW II Naval Air Corps vet, Carney is married and has a son and two daughters.

About to make a pancake out of the ball are these TC linemen, ready for the 1959 NCC wars.

Noted Columnist Harris to Speak—

Plans Set for Elementary Education Conference

More than 1000 teachers from all sections of Iowa are expected to be on the campus Saturday, Sept. 26 for the annual Elementary Education Conference.

They'll hear Sydney Harris, nationally-syndicated columnist from the Chicago Daily News, deliver two addresses at the general sessions set for 9 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. Sectional meetings will be held in various classrooms throughout the campus.

Harris, who will speak on "The Future of the Arts in America" and "What Is a School For," has been a member of the Daily News staff since 1940, and a columnist since 1944. Born in London, he started his newspaper career while still a teenager, working as a copy boy and cub reporter at night, while attending high school classes during the day.

The conference is organized each year to bring outstanding speakers from education and allied fields before Iowa teachers and administrators, and to provide an opportunity for Iowa educators to discuss and hear discussed current trends and issues in elementary education.

This year, 32 discussion groups are planned, from which educators can choose the topics which interest them most. Examples of some of the topics: Individualized reading instructions; The first few weeks of school; Beyond the textbook; Problems of beginning teachers; and parent-teacher conferences.

Homecoming Date Set—October 24

Autumn beauty, a colorful parade, and plenty of enthusiasm combine to make Homecoming a favorite time for TC Alumni to return to the campus and renew old friendships.

This year's Homecoming activities will again be varied in nature, according to Raymond Schlicher, chairman of the Homecoming committee.

Big event will be the Homecoming Football game with North Dakota University, conference champs in 1959. Kick off time is 1:30 p.m. Saturday, October 24, at O. R. Latham Field.

Other Saturday events are the Homecoming parade at 10 a.m., Alumni-Faculty coffee immediately following the game, many special group events, and the Homecoming Dance in the evening. The Homecoming play will be presented in the College Auditorium, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings, Oct. 22-24.

Final events of the week-end will include the Homecoming chapel, Sunday morning and a music recital in the Auditorium at 8:15 Sunday evening.

higher level than the regular classes.

The general purpose of the program, according to Dr. Marshall Beard, ISTC Registrar, is to "keep the more able students thinking above the ordinary level of achievement and to present them with the challenge of new ideas. The group will discuss political and social ideas, for example, in a series of seminars which will not be included as a part of the students regular load."

The group may be able to graduate in three years according to present plans.

Hazel B. Strayer Dies in New York

Miss Hazel B. Strayer, long-time dramatics instructor at the Iowa State Teachers College, died of cancer September 10 in a New York City hospital.

The story of Miss Strayer's life and her service to the college will be printed in the December Alumnus. The editors were unable to complete the story at this time, since news of her death was received at press time.

Miss Strayer resigned from the college faculty two years ago and since then has made her home in New York where she has been active in theatre and has completed a three-act play for publication.

Committee Recommends Several Changes

Recommendations which may have profound effect on the standards of instruction and development of the college in years just ahead were adopted by the college faculty in a series of meetings this spring.

The proposals were presented by a faculty committee on Standards and Directions after a year-long program of study and deliberation and were adopted by the general faculty after several weeks of discussion by the college instructional staff.

Several of the recommendations may be put into effect this coming year, whereas other proposals must have the approval of the State Board of Regents. In one instance the approval of the state legislature would be necessary.

The faculty recommendations came under three major headings: 1. Action designed to up-grade the scholastic competence and achievement of students. 2. Efforts to improve the quality of instruction offered. 3. A proposal to broaden the scope of service of the college and enhance the quality of its curriculum by making it possible for students to secure the B.A. and M.A. degrees without meeting teacher education requirements.

Scholastic Standards

To achieve the first objective, that of upgrading the scholastic competence and achievement of students, the faculty has recommended:

1. That an honors program be established. Under the plan suggested by the committee, an Honors Board would select 25 sophomores who would take 21 credit hours of honors work during their junior and senior years. Nine of these hours would be devoted to an honors reading course, nine to an honors symposium, and three to an honors essay or project, to be submitted during the last semester of the senior year. Twelve of the 21 hours would apply toward fulfilling the student's major requirements. Specific details will have to be worked out by the curriculum committee during the current year; the complete proposal will then be presented to the Board of Regents for approval, probably in the spring of 1960.

2. That several sections of each general education course be reserved for superior students. These sections would be small enough to permit a great deal of classroom discussion and individualized instruction. This plan may be begun in 1960-61.

3. That a student be permitted to "test out" of certain courses by passing a special examination. With the exception of courses specifically listed by the Dean of Instruction, students could gain credit for such courses provided his achievement in the examination at least equals the achievement of a student who earns a "B" in the course taken in the usual manner. This recommendation in effect urges extension of plans which have been in operation at the college for many years. Several departments are now at work preparing examinations so students may be encouraged to demonstrate their competence and move rapidly into more challenging work.

4. That admissions standards be tightened.

a. That within the framework of the present admissions policies the screening of doubtful cases be more rigorous. It is anticipated that students of doubtful scholastic ability as judged by high school performances and examination scores will be more carefully screened so that by the fall of 1962 not more than 2% of the students admitted will be from below the 30th percentile in high school rank and not over 15% will be below the 60th percentile.

b. That the point at which freshmen would generally be accepted for admission be changed from "upper one half" of his high school graduating class to "upper 40%". This recommendation has been formally made to the State Board of Regents and is being considered by committees of the Board at the present time. It will not go into effect unless the Board approves.

c. That students applying for admission be required to pass a reading and a writing test. It will be difficult to carry out this recommendation, but an effort will be made during the next several years to find or to construct tests that are both valid and administratively feasible. If a plan which seems satisfactory can be worked out, the matter will be brought to the State Board of Regents for approval.

d. That transfer students be screened more carefully. Transfer students may be required to take examinations. This matter will probably be discussed more fully with the State Board of Regents before formal requirements are established.

Improvement of Instruction

Looking toward improvement of the quality of instruction, the faculty recommended:

1. That the normal workload of faculty members be 15 units, with three such units designated for scholarly activity other than teaching. Thus the teaching load would be 12 units — ordinarily, 12 credits of work with some variation between departments. It is planned to work toward such an arrangement for 1960-61 while at the same time, carrying forward plans to increase the student-faculty ratio in the college as a whole.

2. That a three-year probationary period be required of all new staff members. This policy is already in effect.

3. That the Dean of Instruction be encouraged to require explanation from instructors whose grades deviate materially from the over-all college average. This has long been college policy; this action merely gives specific faculty support to the current practice.

Future Directions

As far as future directions are concerned, the faculty adopted a recommendation of the committee asking the Board of Regents and the state legislature to remove the restriction requiring all degree curricula at the college to contain courses in professional education necessary for teacher certification.

If this request is granted, those students who do not wish to or who are not qualified to enter the teaching profession could nevertheless secure the B.A., and M.A. from the college. The recommendation requested further that the college be granted permission to develop sixth year and doctoral programs for teachers and specialized school personnel.

The recommendation to eliminate the professional education requirement from the curriculum which all students are now expected to complete stemmed from lengthy discussions on whether the college should become multi-purpose or remain in its present status. The former move is considered by many faculty as inevitable. More and more teachers colleges throughout the country are tending to become multi-purpose.

Further Study Recommended

In addition to 14 specific proposals, the committee recommended that further study be given to a number of other areas.

Donald Howard to Head Social Science

Dr. Donald Howard, whose appointment as new head of the Social Science department at Iowa State Teachers College has been approved by the State Board of Regents, has served as curriculum coordinator in the office of dean of instruction since 1955.

He joined the Teachers College staff in 1947 as an assistant professor of history and was promoted to associate professor in 1952 and full professor in 1957. He has been teaching in the social science department on a part-time basis since his appointment as Curriculum Coordinator. He will assume his new duties at the opening of the fall semester.

Nearly Half-Million in Grants to ISTC

The college received nearly a half million dollars this year through grants for institutes, research projects, and loan programs.

The National Science Foundation was the biggest contributor, awarding a $327,600 grant for one project alone in October. This was for support of a second Academic Year Institute, to start in September. The Foundation also awarded a $12,550 grant to continue the '58-'59 Institute through the '59 summer session. Other NSF grants were for support of a summer science and mathematics institute, a junior high school science and mathematics seminar, and a special summer research program.

Additional amounts for college projects were awarded by the U. S. Office of Education, the Atomic Energy Commission, the federal government, and the Link Foundation.

Dr. Donald Howard

Point, and received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Iowa State Teachers College in 1931. He received his Master of Arts and Doctor of Philosophy degrees from the State University of Iowa.

Dr. Howard's experience in the educational field involves some 16 years as a teacher and administrator in secondary schools; an assignment as a demonstration teacher for the Iowa State Department of Public Instruction; and as an instructor at the State University of Iowa and the Portland, Oregon, State College. He spent 28 months in the U.S. Army during World War II as a French interviewer for the Army Specialized Training Corps and in personnel work with captured prisoners of war.

Dr Howard has served on the Board of Directors of the Alumni Association. He is President of the Seerley Foundation and is a member of the Iowa State Teachers College Foundation. He has served Cedar Falls as the drive chairman and as a member of the board of directors of the Community Chest; as the president and as a member of the Chamber of Commerce; and as a member of the Lions Club and its board of directors. He belongs to the College Hill Interdenominational church and is chairman of its board of trustees.

He is a member of the American Historical association, of Sigma Tau Delta, of Phi Delta Kappa, and of Pi Gamma Mu.

He is married to the former Alleen Havens of Boone.

Plans Ready for New T. C. Buildings

Plans for construction of a Health Service Building and an addition to the Arts and Industries Building were in full swing as the Alumnus went to press.

Preliminary plans for the structures were approved by the State Board of Regents late in July. Bids for the actual construction are expected to be received sometime this fall. The Health Service building will be located on the southwest corner of 23rd street and Minnesota Avenue, north of the men's tennis courts. Facilities will include X-ray, drug, laboratory, and eight patient rooms, plus living quarters for the nursing staff. The present Health Service Building, an outmoded structure near the physical plant building, will eventually be torn down.

The addition to the A&I building will include a metal shop, drafting room, ceramics laboratory, art office and conference room, safety education facilities, and some classroom space.

Funds for the Health Service Building and the A&I addition were appropriated earlier this year by the 58th General Assembly. The Assembly also appropriated money for construction of a Music Education Building, to be located near the present baseball diamond. Preliminary drawings for this structure will be submitted in the near future.

The Board also gave the college the go-ahead sign for purchase of 40 acres of land south of 27th street and west of Highway 57. This land will be used for future campus expansion.

Proposed A&I addition.

Sketch of Health Service

In other actions, the Board awarded the Young Heating Co. of Waterloo a $49,500 contract for modernization of the auditorium heating system.

Commons May Get Facelifting Soon

The Commons will have a new look when plans for a major face-lifting get under way.

Mr. Porter Butts of the University of Wisconsin Student Union visited the campus this spring to examine the present facilities and to suggest changes which might be made in the future. He is expected to submit preliminary sketches of a remodeled or expanded building (or both) sometime this fall. Details have not been ironed out as yet, but if the building is to have another wing, it will probably be located to the south or west of the present structure.

Results of a survey made this spring revealed that a majority of the students and faculty wanted the Commons to house a book store, bowling alley, music room, and snack bar. Other facilities, including an enlarged ballroom, meeting rooms, and hobby shops, received less attention.

Funds for construction would have to come out of student fees, not out of a general legislative appropriation.

Around the Country—

ISTC Alumni Groups Get Together

Chicago Group Meets

The twenty-seventh annual dinner of the Chicago Area Iowa State Teachers College Alumni Association was held April 25, 1959, at 6:30 p.m., at the Old Spinning Wheel, Hinsdale, Illinois.

Before dinner was served, a string trio consisting of Robert McCabe, B.A. '40, and two of his Naperville high school students furnished music. Invocation was offered by H. Ed Bro, B.A. '42.

Melvin Mueller, president, presided and welcomed the 101 alumni and guests. Each member introduced himself by giving his name, year of graduation, and present occupation. Mrs. Erma Robertson Erskine, Kg. 08, of Westmont represented the oldest class; Mrs. Anna Marcue Kupke, Domestic Science '10 of Naperville, the second oldest class. Ardis Swordes, B.A. '24, of Springfield had come the greatest distance in Illinois. Hammond had nine representatives present.

The minutes of the 1958 meeting were read by the secretary and approved.

The nominating committee presented the following slate of officers for 1959-60:

President—Robert Keyes, B.A. '42, Western Springs

The secretary was instructed to cast a unanimous ballot for the above named officers.

Community singing of Iowa State Teachers College favorite songs was ably lead by Mrs. Margaret Cupp Steinhebel, B.A. '41, accompanied by Robert McCabe fairs, introduced Dr. Caryl Middleton, president of the General Alumni Association, who gave the group a tour of the campus via colored slides. Many changes were in evidence such as the beautiful new Campus School and the Arts and Industry Building. He also gave a glimpse of the modernization being done on College Hill's business section. Dr. Middleton pointed out that admission standards are being raised and those being admitted are being more carefully screened each year. He pointed out that plans were being discussed for curriculum changes with no minor required, thus permitting the individual to specialize in a definite field.

The meeting closed with remarks from Robert Keyes, the new president, and the singing of the "Loyalty Song".

Capital Area Club Holds Tea

The Capital Area Alumni Club gathered for a Tea, Sunday, May 17, from 3 to 5:30 p.m. at the International Service Lounge at American University, Washington, D. C.

The committee felt that the faculty should study the advisability of requiring general comprehensive examinations which might be given at the end of the sophomore year. These tests might cover the material now included in the general education program. It felt, too, that considerable study should be given to the possibility of requiring departmental comprehensive examinations which might be administered at the end of the senior year, to cover the student's major and minor.

Concerning the general education program, the committee asked such questions as: Are there some courses, not now included, which should be included in the future, such as foreign languages and general psychology? Are there courses which should be dropped, such as music, art, and philosophy? Does the present program provide the best possible allocation of time? Should the general education program be concentrated in the student's first two years, or distributed over a four-year period?

Other areas recommended for further study included the graduate program, the screening of students, adult education, extra-curricular activities, academic rank, staff additions, and committee duties of the faculty.

The Committee on Standards and Directions put in a tremendous amount of time and work in an effort to determine ways in which the college might better itself. The committee included the following people: Dr. James Blanford, professor of business education; Dr. Josef Fox, professor of English; Dr. E. W. Hamilton, associate professor of mathematics; Dr. Howard Knutson, professor of education; Dr. William Latham, professor of music; Dr. Caryl Middleton, coordinator of student teaching, and Dr. Howard Thompson, assistant professor of history.

Mr. and Mrs. Goslin Return to Thailand

Don Goslin of the class of 1949 and Mrs. Goslin (Harriet Klohs, '47) won't be spending many weekend reunions on the campus this year.

The Goslins recently returned to Bangkok, Thailand, where Don has been an English teacher for the past two years. He'll be there another two years before returning home.

He works in a language center sponsored by the American University Alumni Association. This is an organization of Thailanders who have received their bachelor's degrees in the United States and who have returned to Thailand to teach. Part of the funds to cover the center's operational costs are provided by the United States Information Agency.

The Thai people are "shy but pleasant," says Don, who works with adult classes. "They're eager to learn because English is regarded as a second language in that country. Sixty percent of my students are governmental workers who come to class on a voluntary basis. Most of them have had previous English training, but they feel they need to know the language well to really get ahead in their work."

In addition to his formal classroom teaching, Don also briefs his pupils on such American institutions as the hotdog, the supermarket, baseball, frozen foods, drive-in movies, etc.

The Goslins reported that Thailand is a land of contrasts where one can see water buffalo, an ancient source of power in that country, grazing near modern airports where super-sonic jets fly in around the clock.

"You can also find six-lane expressways, fine theaters, and TV stations," said Don, "and you can find people who haven't changed their way of living for centuries."

Don, who was a speech therapist in Waterloo and Cedar Rapids before going to Thailand, feels the Thais are wise in having their language program administered primarily by Thais, instead of by British or American officials.

"In this way," he said, "the government knows that it alone is responsible for the success of the program."
